House Group Against Drafting of Family Men

Washington, Feb. 20 —(AP)—The House Military Affairs committee today went on record—apparently for the benefit of local draft boards—as opposed to general drafting of family men, and termed such a policy injurious to the nation's welfare.

In a formal report of the reasons why it approved the Kilday bill to give family men draft deferment priorities and to put draft quotas on a statewide basis, the committee expressed belief "it would be injurious to the welfare of our country to have local draft boards feel that men with families can be freely inducted into the armed services."

The report asserted "many local boards throughout the country, due to confusion and difference of opinion in the construction of the rules and regulations adopted by the (Selective Service) bureau have been inducting large numbers of men into the armed forces with little regard for the number of dependents, particularly in relation to men who are the heads of families."

The committee reiterated its adherence to the fundamental principle that "there is certainly a genuine social reason for preserving established families." It said "established families should not be indiscriminately uprooted and torn from their moorings solely because of the fact that their financial needs have been taken care of" by previously-enacted legislation providing for government allowances to dependents.

The report emphasized the Kilday bill "does not in any way, bar the induction of heads of families, but does provide that based on the degree of dependency, single men without dependents, and single men with collateral dependents, as well as married men without children, shall be inducted into the service under proper rules and regulations prior to the induction of heads of families with one or more dependents."

Written by Chairman May (D-Ky.) and Representative Kilday (D-Tex.)—sponsor of the measure—the report commended the War Department and other "leaders of our military effort" and disclaimed any intention to interfere with their work.

The committee held that enactment of the legislation would be "highly beneficial to the armed forces and aid much in the prosecution of the war, and at the same time maintain and preserve the institution of the American home, as well as alleviate to some extent the urgent and much needed demand for additional productive manpower on our home front."

U. S.-Born Japs Loyal to Army Says Sergeant

American-born Japanese are serving in the United States Army, and are making good loyal soldiers, Technical Sergeant A. L. Hunter of Camp Savage, Minnesota, where Japanese-American troops are stationed, told Hope Rotary club yesterday noon in Hotel Barlow.

Each recruit, however, is first investigated by the FBI back through his grandparents, and those who are passed for Army duty may be depended on, the sergeant continued. He pointed out, however, that Japanese-Americans are used as interpreters and for duties other than actual fighting soldiers.

Sergeant Hunter reminded his audience that civilian American-born Japanese now in civilian relocation centers are there by their own choice, as they have the right to leave to work in a war plant or work on a farm, the removal en masse being merely to clear the West Coast.

The Army man was introduced by Ted Jones, program chairman. O. Freeman of Little Rock was a club guest.

Food Rationing March 1; Sales Stop Tonight

—Washington

By IRVING PERLMETER

Washington, Feb. 20 —(AP)—Don't hoard, but buy today all the canned fruits and vegetables you'll need next week because none may be sold legally from midnight tonight until the morning of March 1.

Serious food rationing—the first in American history—is starting to hit its stride.

Sugar and coffee already are doled out on coupons. Tonight rationing of meat, poultry, and vegetables stops. On about March 28 meat rationing will start. Rationing of butter and other edible oils, of canned milk, and other fats are on the way. Canned meat and canned fish, whose sale was stopped Wednesday night, will be rationed along with fresh meat.

Another phase of the general food picture finds price ceilings due to be placed on fresh vegetables within the next two or three months, according to an Office of Price Administration announcement—thus leaving fresh fish the only important food group still unregulated as price.

But, returning to rationing, here's your timetable after today:

Tomorrow (Sunday): Count the cans of fruits and vegetables you own, excluding home-canned and small cans under 8 ounces. With this information, fill out a "consumer declaration" either clipped out of a newspaper or obtained from a ration board. This tells how many cans are owned in each family in excess of five cans per person in the family, how much coffee your family had in excess of one pound per person last Nov. 28 and list the names of each member of the family.

Monday, Feb. 22—Starting Monday and running through the week in most communities, a nationwide registration will be held in schoolhouses and other public places. One adult should appear for each family, bringing with him the "consumer declaration," and all the family's 0.1 ration books. Volunteer clerks will hand out one copy of ration book No. 2 for each No. 1 book exhibited (you keep the No. 1 book). The clerk only looks at it. On the basis of the "consumer declaration" and the family's 0.1 ration books, the clerk will issue one No. 2 coupon for every can the family owns in excess of five per person.

Monday, March 1—Sale of canned fruits and vegetables resumes, but only upon surrender of ration coupons, according to a "point value table."

The "point value table," which is merely a price list of different cans, using "points" instead of money, will be made public late Sunday for publication in Monday morning newspapers. Copies will be posted in all grocery stores.

Each person will be given 48 points to "spend"—accompanied by cash, of course—on canned fruits and vegetables, frozen fruits or vegetables (not cereals), and canned soups.

The No. 2 ration book will contain blue and red stamps—the blue for canned goods and the red to be used later for meat.

Each stamp will have printed on it both letters and numbers. The letters tell when to use the stamps—blue stamps lettered A, B or C may be used in March—and the figures are the points.

The large point stamps should be "spent" first, if possible, since the grocer can not give change and the smaller points can be formed into various combinations.

A modified version of the plan originated by Beardsley Rumel chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was among the proposals rejected but its sponsor in the committee Representative Carlson (R-Kas.) said he would continue "to press for that kind of bill."

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the committee action did indicate not a let-up in the effort to devise a current collection system for the 4,000,000 income taxpayers. In addition there were definite signs that some pay-as-you-go system with a substantial abatement of one year's taxes would be approved.

The five man subcommittee headed by Representative Cooper (D-Tenn.) was instructed "to produce a new bill including the principle of pay-as-you-go and collection at the source."

The committee thus went on record as favoring not only a pay-as-you-go system but a withholding levy as a means of making weekly semi-monthly or monthly income deductions which would be accumulated and applied against actual taxes computed at the year end.

Tide Turns As Allies Break Up New Axis Push

By WES GALLAGHER

Allied Headquarters in North Africa Feb. 20 —(AP)—United States and British troops guarding a stabilized mountain line in central Tunisia have crushed an attempt by Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces to thrust again toward the Algerian base of Tebessa through passes above Sbeitla and Kasserine it was announced today.

A strong German patrol six tanks and six self-propelled guns when it clashed with an Allied brigade near Sbeitla 20 miles north of Sbeitla and Nazi losses were even heavier in an attack against Kasserine, a spokesman said.

As a result of the two setbacks to Rommel's force, military authorities here agreed that the "tide had turned" and that the Axis Tunisian offensive probably would be limited hereafter to tentative jabs at the Allies' new mountain line in a search for weak spots.

It was announced that General Sir Harold Alexander former commander of the British Eighth army in the near east had assumed personal command of all Allied ground forces in Tunisia under the supreme leadership of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and had begun shaping his plans for the expected Allied offensive.

Allied headquarters in North Africa, Feb. 20 —(AP)—Allied troops have been withdrawn from forward positions in the Oussellia valley, running between mountain chains extending for 50 miles southwest of the Axis base at Pont du Fahs, a communiqué announced today.

The report of this apparently limited maneuver—a movement from the eastern to the western line of hills—was accompanied by the disclosure of engagements in two regions to the southwest.

"Several enemy tanks and self-propelled guns were destroyed" near Sbeitla, the communiqué said, indicating that Axis armored units were probing Allied defenses as far as 25 miles northwest of the wind-rail line between Sbeitla and Sidi Bouzid which they overran earlier in the week.

A small enemy attack was repulsed yesterday in the area northwest of Kasserine, itself 18 miles southwest of Sbeitla.

(The German communiqué broadcast from Berlin today declared that nearly 8,000 prisoners,

Stamps, Ark., Feb. 20—Special to the Hope Star—Lafayette county oil interest is expected to be centered the next month on the wildcat test being drilled by the W. G. Ray Drilling Company southeast of Bradley known as the Warnock-Levey No. 1 C. SW SW of section 3-20-24. Present drilling depth is below 4300 feet. This test is only 2 miles northeast of another recent excellent producer completed last week in Bossier Parish La., by Hunt Oil Company, and if the well is successful an entirely new oil field will be opened and leasing as well as further drilling will be intensive.

In the new Midway field of Lafayette county, Arkansas Fuel Oil Company spudded and is drilling ahead at below 2700 feet, at the Luzenia Creek No. 2. Location is in section 9-13-24. Barnsdall Oil Company was moving in rig to spud in possibly next week at its Miller F. Creek No. 2 N of C NE SE section 10-15-24. Southwood Oil Company has four locations waiting which will probably begin operations soon.

In the McKemie field, south of Stamps, Lion Oil Refining Company was moving in materials and clearing location at its Wheat No. 1 E of C section 35-17-24.

Hunt Oil Company abandoned as dry its Stamps Land No. 1 wildcat test in Nevada county, northeast of the Buckner field in Lafayette county location was in section 35-14-23. Operators refused to divulge any information as to findings in the test, but it was generally known the depth reached was below 6000 feet, and reports of salt water was thought to have caused abandonment.

West of the Midway field, Barnsdall Oil Company was drilling ahead at below 6000 feet at its Grace No. 1 C SE NW section 4-15-27 Miller county.

Allied Bombers Cripple 4 Jap Ships in Raid

By The Associated Press

Allied warplanes dropping 500 pound bombs have crippled four Japanese ships totaling 27,000 tons in a single night raid in the Solomons Island Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said today as United Nations airmen blasted the enemy from Burma to the South Seas.

At the same time Admiral Chester W. Nimitz commander-in-chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet disclosed Pearl Harbor that the Navy's Corsair fighting planes—among the fastest high-altitude scappers in the world—have gone into action in the Solomons theater.

Admiral Nimitz said this was probably the first report of the speedy 2000 horsepower fighters in combat anywhere.

The Corsairs were described as "in the 400 M.P.H. class" capable of outlying any other aircraft at 35,000 feet or above and fair superior to anything the Japanese have shown in the Pacific.

On the enemy side of the ledger Imperial Tokyo headquarters made an unconfirmed claim that Japanese Navy planes had sunk two Allied destroyers and a large transport in an attack on escorted convoys off San Cristobal island just below Guadalcanal.

The broadcast did not indicate whether the convoys were carrying reinforcements to Guadalcanal or to San Cristobal.

Gen. MacArthur reported that Allied planes rained havoc on enemy shipping at Buin in the Solomons setting fire to a 9000-ton vessel twice hitting a 7000-tonner and damaging two ships of 8000 and 3000 tons.

A communiqué said there was no change in the situation on the New Guinea front where Gen. MacArthur's forces are driving toward the big enemy base at Salamaua.

In Burma RAF bombers attacked the Japanese airbase at Toungoo and strafed enemy-occupied villages on Akyab island along the Bay of Bengal.

Steady Rise of Goebbels Amazes Writer

By The Associated Press

The Moscow radio quoted a Stockholm dispatch to Jass today as saying "neutral correspondents were amazed at the unusual honors accorded Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels on the occasion of his speech to the German people Thursday and added Swedish newspaper emphasized his steady rise as Germany's 'first man' since the Axis defeat at Stalingrad."

The broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said the "Fuehrer's March" and the "Nazi hymn" were each played twice during the ceremonies at the Sportsplatz in Berlin.

As Goebbels told Germans what he called the "unvarnished truth" about the winter battles in Russia Hitler remained in the shadow under the protective care and labors of the Russian radio account said.

The broadcast gained significance from repeated rumors of Hitler's death in the last few weeks—rumors which were given some credence by some diplomats including Joseph E. Davies former ambassador to Russia.

Hitler's failure to speak to his people Jan. 30 on the tenth anniversary of the rise of the Nazi party to power has been the principal cause of these rumors. However they have been called "sheer nonsense" by a British foreign office spokesman.

Goebbels read a prepared proclamation in Hitler's name during the anniversary celebration.

The Russian broadcast said the latest Goebbels speech was approved in Sweden as a corroboration of rumors that the whole campaign of "total mobilization" of the German people announced after the Stalingrad defeat has been completely entrusted to Goebbels.

Buy-Bomber Drive Beats Quota Here

Hempstead County and Arkansas have gone over their quotas in the American Legion's Buy-a-Bomber War Bond campaign, Olie Olsen, commander of Leslie Huddleston Post No. 12 announced today. The local post subscribed $10,180.50 in War Bonds, against a quota of $7,000; and reports from Little Rock show the state has exceeded $1,000,000, against a quota of $700,000.

Four Killed in Car, MOP Train Wreck

By The Associated Press

Malvern Feb. 20 —(AP)—A fast Missouri Pacific passenger train plowed into the side of an automobile at the Main street crossing here today, killing four men returning from work at the Lake Catherine Aluminum Plant.

Vernon Smith, 25; Aubrey Cheatham, 30 and Robert C. Aldridge, 35 were killed outright. Clyde Shell, 35, died about an hour later in the Hot Spring county general hospital. The men were all of Malvern.

German Naval Base Bombed by British

London, Feb. 20 —(AP)—Royal Air Force squadrons dropped another heavy load of bombs on the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven and other objectives in western Germany last night the Air Ministry announced today.

At the same time army cooperation command planes attacked electric transformer stations in France.

Eleven bombers and three army cooperation command planes were lost.

It was the second night raid in a row on Wilhelmshaven, where U-boat facilities and shipyards are prime targets, and the thirteenth night attack on Germany this month.

"One enemy fighter was destroyed by our bombers," the communiqué said.

A DNE dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio said that 36 persons were killed and a great number injured during RAF raids over occupied territories in the last 48 hours.

Training Is Offered On Machine Care

Three mowing machine schools featuring care, adjustment and repair will be conducted in Hempstead County next Monday and Tuesday, according to Oliver L. Adams, County Agent. As mowers are essential in hay and pasture production, a DNE Hemptead County under present rationing rules can secure only 6 machines in 1943 the schools of instruction should prove of much assistance to farmers who in most cases must operate and repair their own machines. Earle K. Rambo, Agricultural Extension Engineer, a mower specialist, will conduct demonstrations at each of the meetings at the following time and places: Monday afternoon February 22, at 1:30 at J. L. Goodbar farm, managed by Charlie Baker about 5 miles Northwest of Hope on Columbus road; Tuesday morning, February 23, at 9:30 at Boyd Brothers' farm about two miles North of Emmet or about 3 miles South of Beard's Chapel; Tuesday afternoon, February 23, at 1:30 at McRae Implement Company Warehouse in Hope about two blocks South of Louisiana and Arkansas Freight Depot. These schools will be conducted at no expense to farmers who take part.

FDR Against Confirmation of Employees

Washington, Feb. 20 —(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today it would be "little less than tragic" if congress required presidential nomination and Senate confirmation of all federal employees receiving more than $4500 a year.

Expressing his "unqualified opposition" to a pending bill making such a requirement Mr. Roosevelt wrote Vice President Wallace that the proposal "presupposes congressional responsibility for the operation of executive agencies."

"An agency head is responsible for the success or failure of his program," he wrote. "This accountability is dissipated if responsibility for the appointment of employees is divided."

Mr. Roosevelt estimated that more than 33,000 positions would be affected if the bill introduced by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) became law and declared that neither he nor congress had time to examine into the qualifications of that many individuals.

Expand Gains at Kharkov, Kursk, Along Azov Sea

—Europe

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 20 —(AP)—Thrusting forward everywhere along the southern Russian front, the Red Army is expanding its gains in the northern sectors about Kharkov and Kursk aiming both at the German-held stronghold at Orel to the north and westward at the rich Dnieper industrial valley the Russians said today.

(The German high command reported that "heavy defensive fighting" was continuing between the Sea of Azov and the area south of Orel. The broadcast communiqué recorded by the Associated Press declared that counterattacks by German infantry and tanks had repelled the Soviets in several sectors and had destroyed 32 Russian tanks. The German air force, it said was attacking Russian supply lines day and night.)

New gains were hammered out in the Donets basin and along the sea of Azov shore west of Rostov against a stubborn counterattack by the Red Army. The Red Army captured the Kuban valley of the western Caucasus a communiqué told of capturing five more towns in the drive to force German remnants of the Caucasus army into the tiny Taman peninsula.

The first signs of warmer weather were noted today in the Rostov area and Red Star the Red Army newspaper reported that numerous streams in the region were running free of ice.

The dispatches also revealed that Col. Gen. Rodion Malinovsky who directed the recapture of Rostov now was the commander on that southern battlefield.

Between Kharkov and Kursk the Russians declared the railway and the highway were cleared for uninterrupted Soviet use with the capture of Oboyan 35 miles south of Kursk where the surrounded Nazi garrison was smashed.

West of Kursk the Germans were rushing in tanks and reserves among them detachments of an infantry division only recently arrived from Lyons France a Soviet war bulletin said but the enemy was pressed back and a strongly fortified place was occupied.

The Russians also said they were pushing their wedge farther west of Fatezh about 30 miles northwest of Kursk to lengthen the pincer curving around south of Orel.

Expanding their gains about Kharkov Soviet communiques told of advances along railroads west of the city and the capture of eight cities and villages including Olshany 20 miles northwest of Kharkov on the railroad to Bryansk; Lyubotin 12 miles due west; and Merefa an industrial center 15 miles southwest of Kharkov on the railroad to Dnepropetrovsk.

Other towns captured lay between Kharkov and these advanced spearheads.

Lyubotin is at the junction of the Poltava—Sumy railways and its capture pointed a Soviet column toward Poltava 65 miles to the west of the Lovozova—Kiev rail line across the Ukraine as well as toward Sumy and another German base at Konotop on the Kursk-Kiev railway 140 miles southwest of Kursk and 150 miles north of Lyubotin.

Russian forces previously were reported at Lgov 30 miles west of Kursk; at Bogodukhov 55 miles northwest of Kharkov; and at Gravoron about 20 miles north of Bogodukhov. A communiqué said that in yesterday's fighting in the Gravoron area about 600 of the enemy were killed and several more towns were captured.

"West of Rostov" a communiqué stated "our troops continued their offensive and occupied a number of populated places. X unit crossed a water barrier and after breaking down German resistance occupied an enemy fortified defense position. Over 200 enemy dead were left on the battlefield."

Elsewhere along the arc drawn about the Donets basin the Russians said they had advanced in the Krasnokarmelsk sector north of Stalino after beating off counterattacks.

With Oboyan in their hands the Russians now have a 300-mile stretch of rail running from south of Orel to Lovozova in the Donets basin 65 miles northeast of Dnepropetrovsk.

It provides them with an artery of immense importance to implement their offensive against the Dnieper valley despite the nearing season of thaw mud and slush.

The Japanese Army boasts it is ready now to deliver the long delayed knockout blow against China. A spokesman in Tokyo says the Regions of the Son of Heaven are prepared to "take all conceivable measure to crush Chungking resistance." That may be propaganda, to hide some other sinister design. Or it may be that the Japanese mean what they say, that they are impelled by the logic of their strategic situation to deliver their full power now against the valiant

Airport Contract for Spa Field Announced

Little Rock, Feb. 19. —(AP)—The U. S. Engineers' Little Rock Office announced today it has signed a construction contract for Hot Springs' new airport and that the project should be completed within six months.

The contract calls for two runways each 4100 by 150 feet plus "necessary taxi-ways." The project will be at the present municipal airport site.

The work will cost "more than $1,000,000." The contract went to R. B. Potashnick of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority is supplying money for the project and army engineers are supervising it.

Implements of War Can Help China Most

Washington, Feb. 19. —(AP)— Madame Chiang Kai-shek said at the White House today Americans could help the Chinese best by sending more implements of war and President Roosevelt declared this was going to be done as quickly as the Lord will let us.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt united in their press conferences for the first time and the first lady of China and the chief executive oath submitted to questioning.

At one point Mr. Roosevelt re-emphasized the intention of the United Nations to use China actively as a base for attacking Japan, while efforts continue to cut the Japanese lines in the Pacific Islands.

To a question as to how aid to the Chinese might be stepped up, Madame Chiang referred to the president's remark about as soon as the Lord will let us and said she would append the saying that the Lord helps those who help

No. 42 TRADES AND EXCHANGES (PART 2)

While certain trades or exchanges of property are considered as not giving rise to gain, and consequently nontaxable, such transactions are strictly limited in character. The first limitation is that the property exchanged must be "solely for property of a like kind."

The words "like kind" have reference to the nature or character of the property, and not to its grade or quality. Thus an exchange of a truck for a new truck, a passenger car for a new passenger car, to be used for a like business purpose, would be exchanges of "like kind". Likewise, trades of a farm for city property, or of unimproved real estate for improved real estate, or of a rental house for a store building, are all classified as exchanges of a like kind. Generally speaking, the use to which the properties are put is a governing consideration in determining whether they are of like kind.

A second limitation on nontaxable

It should be noted also, in this connection, that in the case of a residence exchanged for other property any gain realized would be taxable, under the capital gains provisions, but no loss would be allowable, since losses are not allowed to be taken on personal residence property disposed of. If, however, a business property were exchanged for a residence, the resultant gain or loss would be reportable.

The third limitation on nontaxable exchanges is that the exchange must be even, that is, no boot involved. If boot is taken, then a gain arises, the amount of which, up to the amount of the boot, would be taxable. The amount of gain beyond the amount of the boot would be nontaxable. If boot is given, however, no loss can be taken for the amount of boot given, since this is regarded simply as additional investment in property of the kind exchanged.

The fourth limitation on nontaxable exchanges excludes transactions in stocks and bonds and other securities, as well as exchanges of

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Looks like a photo finish in the race between the Army and the end of the basketball season. Those kids who were "safely" in the reserves last fall are being called up so fast a coach hardly knows from one day to the next who are the regulars. . . . When the next big bunch of local boys goes March 2 there may be slim pickings left for the invitational tournament later in the month. . . . Frank Dixon, the N.Y.U. miler, also has tried his hand at boxing, basketball, touch football and piano - playing and Coach Emil Von Elling has a job to keep him from exercising at one of these when he's supposed to be resting.

Shear Nonsense
The Cincinnati Reds' latest wrinkle in equipment for spring training in the north is a sweat suit like these track athletes wear. . . . Frank Grayson, veteran Times-Star baseball writer, describes it as "a cross between a west end zoot suit and an explosion in a pawn shop." . . . And just when the Cubs were giving up those funny uniforms, too.

Ringside Ramble
Harry Willis, who puts a lot of faith in his annual month - long fast as a way to stay healthy, postponed it this year from February to March to be sure he wouldn't miss last night's Ray Robinson fight. Jackie Wilson fight. He should of saved his ration coupons. . . . Robinson is due to join the Army before long and he'll give a swell argument to go in as a guy who flat-topped the sergeant. Trainer George Godfrey insisted he was "too fine" and would take a lot of rest before next week's return go with Jake Lamotta. . . . French Saliors who have been all over town since the Richeleu arrived, are boasting about a 21 - year-old middle weight named Marcel Cerdan from Casablanca, who kayaked a rival just before they left.

Today's Guest Star
Lynn C. Doyle, Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "We'd like to get a look at one of the 1943 contracts sent to the various A's. The returns came in so fast Connie must have gotten them up to look like a draft board notice."

The Old Con-Fee-Dence
Billy Evans tells this one about how Johnny Beazley felt about the Yanks in the final game of the 1942 World Series. . . . When Johnny got into a hole, Manager Billy

Southworth trotted out to the mound. . . . Evans noticed a strange look come over Southworth's face and asked Billy about it. . . . "I asked, 'How do you feel, Johnny?'" Southworth explained, and he said, "Okay, Skipper; what's the matter with you? Now you just go on back there and sit down, and I'll get out of this all right."

Service Dept.
Marine Jack Burke, who subbed for his father, who died ten days before, was the low scorer in a recent golf exhibition with Jimmy Demaret, Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden at Houston, Tex., the other day. . . . The North Carolina preflight school could get up a fair country football team this spring. Recent arrivals for indoctrination courses include Ensigns Parker Hall, Bob Kellogg, Marvin Hutson, James McDonald, Andy Palau and Jim Nesbit, Lieuts. Dale Burnett and Dennis Myers and Lieut. Commander Jack Meagher. . . . Pvt. Carl Barreau, Fort Monmouth, N. J., heavyweight from Barre, Vt., never worries about a rubber mouth piece when he fights. He just takes out his upper plate.

Wilson Earns $10,000 but Takes Beating
New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—California Jackie Wilson didn't make any mistake in showing up at Madison Square Garden last night, although it's a matter for argument as to whether the $10,000 or so he got for turning up was worth the argument he absorbed from Ray Robinson.

But he made several other mistakes in the course of the evening's best busting, and the chief one of these cost him the fight as well as an assortment of lumps and bumps from the belt on the whiskers he received - at no extra cost.

This slight error was in trying to trade long - range artillery with the Harlem Sugar Man at odd moments during the ten rounds. This is a nasty little habit that resembles a guy in a canoe, armed with a pea-shooter, getting into an argument with a 40,000 - ton battleship. Sugar may be rationed, but the sugar - man's Sunday shots definitely aren't, a fact he proved pariticularly in the fourth round when he forced Sergeant Jackie for a nine count and hit him with

Racing Meet to Start Monday at Hot Springs

Hot Springs, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Recing Secretary Eugene W. Bury predicted today that not more than 10 of the 19 nominees for the $1,500 Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin Handicap would go to the post Monday for the inaugural feature of Oaklawn Park's 30-day racing season.

The Handicap drew a similarly large field last year and had to be run in two divisions because of the dearth of scratches.

Commines for the six-furlong sprint were:

Mrs. A. R. Smith's Through Bound; Hilltop Stock Farms' Bob's Dream; the Reynold Brothers' Powder Buff and Fly Ty; H. H. Haga's De Value; T. Watley's O.K. Mullen; A. C. Ernst's Alhorth and Aletern; J. C. Chesney's Frank's Boy; C. M. Feltner's Playfield; J. J. and G. Cohen's Big Meal and Corabue; C. E. Nelson's Sassy Lady; E. E. Major's Tornado; C. N. Finch's Obliquities; the Mt. Desert Stables' Spiral Pass; E. Wyatt's Meggie and Mrs. D. B. Miller's and Mrs. D. B. Miller's in coming.

Horses Also to Haul Fans at Bay Meadows

San Mateo, Calif., Feb. 20.—(AP)—The horses run at Bay Meadows today - but that's not all.

They also haul the fans to the park; tote the horsemen from the stable to the paddock - and even replace the tractors in pulling drags and harrows over the racing turf.

The 25-day wartime meet is destined to be the horsemest event ever. It was given the nod by Rubber Administrator W. M. Jeffers on condition that automobile patronage be barred. Consequently, the only cars on the grounds will be those of horsemen who must be at the scene before 8 a.m. to look after the horses. And there those cars must stay - by request of Jerry Giesler, chairman of the California Horse Racing Board - until the owners are ready to leave for the day.

San Mateo, 20 miles south of San Francisco, is a mile and a half from the track. If race fans follow recommendations, they'll leave their cars at home, pass up train service and take the trolley.

For that last mile and a half, track officials have gathered together an assortment of horse drawn vehicles which includes an old Wells Fargo stage coach which has been in several holdups. More than 50 horses have been obtained to pull an assortment of fourseat buggies, buckboard wagons and a tallyho.

everything but the hot - dog hawkers.

On the other hand whenever Wilson waded in, stayed close to Robinson and whacked away at it the Harlem Hammer's skinny sides, he had a lot of fun and considerable success. In fact, that's how he won the four rounds he did, and in those moments, as he bounced shots off Ray's skinny sides, he looked like a xylophone player in the middle of the Unfinished Symphony.

But, as a matter of fact, most of the 16,336 customers, who contributed $47,683 to the jackpot, wondered how any one guy could take the punishment Wilson did. Or, as Referee Frankie Fullam wondered when the taffy - pull was over, "I don't know what was keeping him on his feet."

Razorbacks Roll Up Big Score on Aggies
Fayetteville, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Arkansas' basketball marksmen shot at everything except the referee last night to submerge the Texas Aggies 74-49 and retain a mathematical chance of sharing in the Southwest Conference title.

Paced by Center Gordon Carpenter who registered 25 points, the Razorbacks came within a point of tying the loop scoring record they established in 1940 against Southern Methodist University. Guard Leslie Huffman was high point for the Aggies with 15. Arkansas held a 33-17 halftime advantage.

The two clubs wind up the series tonight.

Emmet Youth Ends Basic Air Training

To my friends who gave me their whole-hearted support:

THANK YOU

To my successful opponent:

Congratulations, and best wishes for a successful administration.

To my other opponent:

I commend him for the fair and honorable manner in which he, too, conducted his campaign.

To everybody:

"Believe it or not," I ain't mad at nobody.

THE TERRIBLE EYE

BY EDWIN RUTT

NO THROAT CUTTING
CHAPTER XIV

THE working model of the Terrible Eye did the job. It cast upon the screen, hastily rigged up in the Taj Mahal, a series of pictures. At the end of them, Hildy Channing gasped.

"Jonah," she said, awed, "I'm on my knees. Who would have thought it? But . . . She stopped suddenly. "Just why did you show me this, Jonah?"

"Because," Jonah said, "I knew it would put you in control of the situation. With what you know now, you can write your own ticket. And I, well, I just want you to have the things you want, that's all."

"You're a sweet guy, Jonah," Hildy said softly. "And I'm ever so grateful to you. It does make everything just ducky."

"Everything," said Jonah, in a voice like Charon mumbling to himself on the journey across the Styx, "for everyone except . . . He bit it off.

"Yes, Jonah?"

"Oh, n-nothing," said Jonah.

THE small private race course on Mr. Channing's property was doing business. The crowd was small, but select. It consisted of members of the Channing family, the house servants, a squad of gardeners, grooms, hostlers and exercise boys. The only inhabitant of the estate not present was the gatekeeper.

In addition to this distinguished company, there were two other spectators who were not conspicuous. Jonah Logan and Mahoney were viewing proceedings from the leafy seclusion of a nearby elm.

Of all the laughing, gesticulating crowd at the track there was but one individual who did not appear to be enjoying himself. This was a little man, pacing turf distractedly and chewing the end of his mustache. Mr. Calvin Meggs still hoped for an 11th hour miracle.

An imposing figure in heather-colored tweeds detached itself from the crowd and bore down upon Mr. Meggs.

"Well, Calvin," boomed H. L. Channing, "I've been looking for you. A disquieting rumor has reached me. Is there any truth in the story that, for unknown reasons, your horse may be scratched?"

Calvin Meggs did the Never-Say-Die school proud. "Not a word of truth," he said stoutly, though hollowly.

"I'm glad to hear it," Mr. Channing said jovially. "Because, Calvin, this race is to be run at 3 o'clock sharp or not at all. I'll grant no postponements, no rain-checks. And I call your attention to the fact that the time is now 2:40."

Mr. Meggs winced.

At that point a cry went up. A black horse, led by a small grinning Negro, was approaching the track. Upon this beast Mr. Channing gazed like father upon son.

"Look, Calvin!" he exclaimed rapturously. "Look at Black Moonlight! What hocks! What withers! Do you honestly believe in your soul, Calvin, that that caricature of yours could beat him?"

"Any day in the week," said Mr. Meggs steadfastly. "Including Sunday."

"Then bring him on," Mr. Channing cried. "What are you waiting for?"

Mr. Meggs was waiting for a miracle. He got it.

"Mr. Meggs, Mr. Meggs!" shouted an excited voice from behind.

Mr. Meggs wheeled, in unison with Mr. Channing. They beheld the gatekeeper hurrying toward them. The gatekeeper was leading a large bay horse. The horse had been newly clipped.

"Found him wanderin' just the other side of the road, sir," panted the gatekeeper, "an' I . . ."

But Mr. Meggs uttered a cry and fell upon the horse, like an end upon a loose ball. "Bucephalus, my pet!" And then, suddenly, he recoiled. A bewildered look crossed his face. "That is not my horse," he stated positively.

"Come, come, Calvin," said Mr. Channing, as the crowd collected, "if it isn't yours, whose is it? Someone found him, felt sorry for him and clipped him, that's all. Heaven knows he needed it."

"I still insist," Mr. Meggs said, "that this is not Bucephalus."

"What makes you say that?" "I—I don't rightly know," said Mr. Meggs vaguely. "It's his general attitude. His—er—stance."

Mr. Channing made a pishing sound. "Don't be silly, Calvin. You can't prove such a statement. Your horse had no distinguishing marks, had he, except that he looked like a neglected sheep?"

"He had a white left forefoot," Mr. Meggs pointed out.

"So has this animal, No, Calvin. I see what you're up to. You would, of course, prefer that the race be called off, since you have cold feet. Hence, you claim that this—this splendid specimen of horseflesh is not yours. It's too thin, Calvin. Altogether too thin. Be glad you have any horse at all and let's get going."

"By gad," ejaculated Mr. Meggs, stung, "I don't think it is my horse. But, even so, I wouldn't be surprised if it could leave that dog of yours at the feedbox."

"Ha," said Mr. Channing. "We shall see. We shall see right away." And he stalked off, waving his arms.

In the privacy of the elm Jonah Logan spoke to Mahoney. "Mahoney," he said, "there's something here that I don't understand."

"Forget it," said Mahoney. "They're gone to the post."

"They were, indeed. The jockeys hired for the occasion had mounted and the horses were at the barrier. Black Moonlight stepped around nervously, light as a cat on his feet. But Bucephalus, or his newly-clipped stand-in, waited with stoicism. His mien was the mien of one who has all night. A few seconds passed. Then: "They're off," announced Mahoney.

It was only a half-truth. Black Moonlight was off. He broke swiftly, picked up speed and seemed to flow toward the turn. Bucephalus, on the other hand, hunched himself a time or two like a dromedary setting sail for Damascus and then stepped gingerly forward. He seemed to possess all the dash and fire of a coal barge.

There then ensued a farcical horse race. By the time Bucephalus reached the turn, Black Moonlight was halfway around. When Black Moonlight rocketed into the stretch, Bucephalus was ambling placidly toward the halfway mark. As Black Moonlight got home in a walk Bucephalus, had he been provided with a spy-glass, could have seen the stretch. He was a sure thing to finish come Michaelmas.

Around Mr. Channing the congratulatory crowd gathered, like umbras of ancient Italy. Around Mr. Calvin Meggs no one gathered, save Hildy Channing. And Mr. Meggs wrung his hands and gave out pained, choking sounds. He was doing these things when Henry L. Channing, beaming at the head of his legions, confronted him.

"Well, Calvin," said Mr. Channing, in a voice that would have been audible in Peru, "let this be a lesson. Never in future, my man, attempt to pit your shabby ill-considered judgment of horseflesh against my certain knowledge. That is all I have to say."

Calvin Meggs got off a last strangled bleat and tottered away. Hildy Channing stayed right with him. Hildy was on a one-woman crusade against throat-cutting.

1863---Abraham Lincoln Guides Fight for Freedom---1943

It is for us the living to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us
—Gettysburg Address, 1863

On this 134th anniversary of his birth, the words of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg in 1863 apply in 1943 at Guadalcanal and on other world fronts where Americans fight for the freedom Lincoln championed.

Kindergarten Cap-and-Gowners

Six-year-old Sisto Delicate, voted "most likely to succeed" by his kindergarten class in New York City, delivers valedictory address to his fellow graduates.

What the Well Dressed Army Angel Will Wear

Army Angels of Mercy will wear these attractive uniforms in hospitals and at the front. The nurses' uniforms include, from left, general purpose outfit, battle dress for nurses in the field, Arctic gown, trench coat for rainy days, brown and white seersucker dress for overseas hospitals, and white uniform with cane for U. S. hospitals.

They Aren't There Any More

The majesty of Russia's Caucasus mountains lay before this German gun crew when this picture from a captured Nazi newsreel was taken. Now the Germans have been chased out of these snowy regions.

De Long Mail

Pvt. Al De Long reads from ladder-top a 10-foot letter he received at Camp Kohler, Calif. The letter is signed by many movie celebrities who knew him as a Beverly Hills entertainer.

WAVE in WAACS

Mrs. Helene Hall of Los Angeles, wife of an enlisted seaman in the Navy, became the first WAVE to trade her blues for WAAC khaki because naval etiquette forbade her to be married to a Navy man of inferior rank.

Merry Mary

Red-haired Mary Martin turns Red Cap and rolls her own baggage on arrival in New York to return to Broadway stage where she first won fame.

Jabs Tougher Than Jibes

President's Aide

Rear Admiral Wilson Brown, veteran of naval action off New Guinea last March, is President Roosevelt's new naval aide, succeeding Capt. John L. McCrea.

Weird Skies Over Hamburg

Ack ack in the night sky over Hamburg painted this weird pattern of fire and light as Lancaster bombers soared over the German port on a raid. One of the bombers is seen in silhouette in this picture taken from another plane at a higher level.

It's a Long Way to Tipperary, Son

This young would-be soldier of Britain is striding along with the best of them, but before long he may confine his marching activity to piggy-back riding on shoulders of one of the American soldiers.

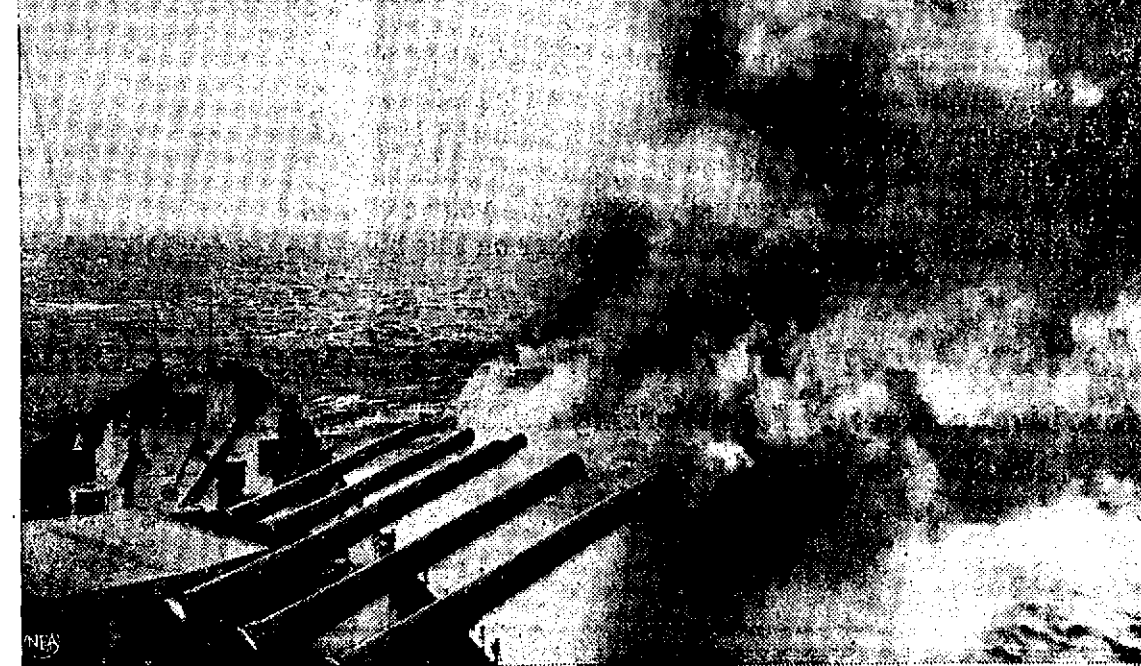

Why You Walk

Need for king-size tires like this one on a four-motored B-24 bomber at Willow Run, Mich., plant is one of the reasons why we average motorists are conserving rubber.

VOTERS OF ARKANSAS! READ THIS—THEN ACT!

Reproduced on this page is House Bill No. 8. Read every word of it — please! Read it over the second time. If you believe in this American Way of settling Labor Disputes—If you believe in making peaceful, orderly picketing legal—If you want to do something to prevent violence in the settlement of labor disputes—then here is what you can do to enact into law this much needed legislation. Read on!

Bill Number 65 is pending in the Senate at this time. Senate Bill Number 65 covers the same principles—it accomplishes the same purpose—it eliminates the same evils as House Bill No. 8. Like House Bill No. 8, Senate Bill No. 65 will have the same organized opposition. There will be members of your legislature who may be afraid to face the issue. There will be members of the legislature who may prefer to be "absent" when this bill is voted on.

If Senate Bill No. 65 is passed by the Senate it will go to the House for consideration. There will be those who will, on one technicality or another, oppose its consideration.

If you really want this piece of fair and needed legislation made a law for the protection of all of the people of Arkansas, the weak and the strong alike, tell your Senator and your Representative so. Spend, yes invest, the price of a telegram or a long distance telephone call to your representatives in the legislature and tell them that you not only favor this bill but want it passed. Better still, catch a train and come to Little Rock and see that your representatives in the legislature actually serve you—your community and Arkansas as a whole, by being present and actually votes one way or the other on this bill.

Whatever You Do--Do It Today! Don't Write--Wire! Phone! or Come!
